PUBLISHED WEEKLY IN CANAL POINT BY PAUL RARDIN

CIRCULATING THROUGHOUT THE VAST AGRICULTURAL AREA OF PALM BEACH COUNTY

Hugh Branch New President Of Joe Hatton, Inc., Broker

In a deal consummated last week and now in effect Hugh H. Branch has become the new President of Joe Hatton, Inc., vegetable brokers in Pahokee. Mr. Branch remains president and active manager of Hugh H. Branch, Inc., and will add to his duties the intricate working of the Hatton brokerage business.

Joe Hatton becomes vice president of the Hatton concern and Julian Branch has been named secretary-treasurer. The two places of business are next door to each other on the State Market platform and the two offices have been joined with a "tunnel".

Active management of both concerns will be in the hands of Hugh Branch and Mr. Hatton will remain as a part time salesman, keeping in close touch with his telephone customers whom he has served for many years. Mr. Branch said that his leading business in Belle Glade will be shifted to the combined location on State Market platform in Pahokee.

Looking forward to increased business on the platform, Mr. Branch this week is having completed a cold storage room, capable of handling two to three carloads of vegetables. This room will better serve the customers who must be loaded out at night, especially when trucks are a little late in arriving for their loads.

Mr. Hatton has been trying for years to slow down a little on orders from his physician and this will give him an opportunity to do just that.

The consolidation of the two concerns will give Mr. Branch an opportunity to solicit grower accounts and he now is in a position to give an outstanding service along this line.

State Office Bld. Is Needed In W.P.B.

Possibility of a state office building being built in Palm Beach County to house various state agencies working in the area, was voiced this week by the county commission.

The board received a request from the State Welfare Department, asking the county to make land available for construction of a building of about 12,000 square feet of space and additional room for a 50-car parking lot.

The board gave tentative approval to the request and voted to ask the state group how much land would be needed.

Commissioner Lake Lytal said he had attended a weekend meeting with state officials in which a plan for an overall office building to house state agencies was reported to be "in the making."

Many state agencies now rent office space, Lytal said, and officials believe by pooling the rent payments a state headquarters could be financed to take care of all the agencies in a central location.

They were accompanied home by their daughter, Patricia, who visited with them during the weekend. Patricia returned Monday to the home of Rev. and Mrs. Lawrence Stewart where she resides and attends Palm Beach Junior College.

Rardin Suggests New Road Park

County Commissioner Paul Rardin, Canal Point, asked the county board this week to encourage the state road department to set aside a 30 acre tract on the new U. S. Highway 27 as a State roadside park.

The land, he said, is located between new U. S. 27 and the dike in the Lake Harbor area.

Meantime the board learned that the U. S. Engineers have called a six-county meeting at Clewiston, November 12, to discuss and study plans for recreational facilities to be established around Lake Okeechobee and its tributaries.

Want Special Tag? Time's Out But You Might Phone For It

Yesterday, October 31st was the deadline for those who had reserve tag numbers in 1963 to reserve the same number for their 1964 tags. However, unless the reserve number was a "low" number, it is very possible that you will be able to again reserve your tag, especially if it should be a telephone number.

Starting today, November 1st, all numbers not reserved during October may be reserved. This applies, also, to anyone who has not previously reserved tag numbers. Reservations may be made any time during November and up to December 18th. However, the earlier reservations are applied for, the better the opportunity to get the desired number.

All low numbers have been taken for passenger car tags as well as such numbers as 1964 in the "D", "Plain", "W" and "WW" series.

The full price of the tag plus the $1.00 reservation fee must be paid at the time the tag number is reserved.

With the raise in price, plus the 13th month charge and the $1.00 reservation fee, charges for passenger tags are (Continued on Page 5)

Corn Price At $2, Celery Next Week

The price of yellow sweet corn plopped down to $2.00 per crate on Wednesday morning of this week. The price on white corn remained at $2.50 but offerings were infinitesimal.

A few beans were offered on Wednesday but the price wasn't anything for the farmer to holler whoopee over. It was quoted around $2.40 per hamper.

Celery will start coming in next week as the Glades will begin furnishing that delectable vegetable to northern customers.

Sugar Gushes Out As Mills Commence 1963-64 Grinding

Raw sugar from Glades cane became the order of the day on Tuesday of this week when mills in the area started the 1963-64 grinding season. Raw sugar by the tons gushed from the carious mills as the sweetest season ever to be experienced got under way.

The new multi-million dollar mill at Bryant, operated by the U. S. Sugar Corp., started wheels to rolling at 9 a. m. on Tuesday of this week. The huge mill at Clewiston started at the same time. Cutting of cane for the two mills was started on Monday. Osceola Mill three miles east of Canal Point will begin grinding today (Friday) with cutting of cane well under way, having been started Wednesday.

Florida Sugar on the road between Belle Glade and Six Mile Bend started last week.

Nov. 22 has been set as the kick-off date for the other multi-million dollar mill—the Glades Sugar House on Airport Road in Belle Glade.

Latest planned mill-start date is December 15, when Talisman Sugar Corp. will get under way.

The sugar fields are burned before cutting to make the cutting easier.

The harvest now under way should be at least a third above last season's yield, the result of added acreage and freeze-damaged cane had to be abandoned last year.

But it will be well below the predicted 1964-65 output.

The removal of all quota restrictions for the coming season will push canefield totals to 175,000-180,000 acres.

Funeral Services For Henry Fralin

Funeral services were held Tuesday afternoon for Henry Fralin, 58, who passed away in West Palm Beach. Services were held at the Wetherington Funeral Home in Pahokee and burial was at Port Mayaca. Rev. Robert A. Shelley conducted the services.

Instalment Loan Officer Is Named Bank Of Pahokee

Karl F. Bennet, a banker of many years experience in the instalment loan business, has been named an assistant cashier of the Bank of Pahokee and has taken over active management of that particular department of the bank, according to Rupert Mock, president of the bank.

Mr. Bennet comes to Bank of Pahokee with excellent references and a wide experience in the instalment loan business in various areas of the United States. He is a native of Huntington, West Virginia, and it was in that city he started his banking career with the Guaranty National Bank. He worked there for four years and in his effort to become better versed in instalment operations changed and worked for Seaboard Finance Company in Huntington for another four years.

Not many miles from Huntington he accepted another position with Royal Finance Company in Ashland, Kentucky, thus widening his scope of experience in the banking instalment business. Mr. Bennet came to Pahokee from the San Fernando Valley in Los Angeles.

Bank of Pahokee plans an expanded service to include instalment (continued on page 8)

Here Is What Transpired At Monday's Meeting Of The Palm Beach County Commission

A number of county road projects were given consideration by the county commission at its meeting this week.

At Lake Worth, the board voted to make plans now for four-laning a two block stretch of 10th Ave. North which is not included in a project now underway. The road is to be four-laned from Congress Ave. to "G" St. leaving a two block bottleneck from that point to U. S. Highway 1. The board authorized hiring an engineering firm now at work on the original project, to complete plans for the two-block stretch, which will be improved at a later date.

Agreed to meet, with county school board officials to discuss acquisition of a small parcel of school land needed for improvement of North Poinsettia in West Palm Beach.

Awarded a contract to Cleary Brothers Construction Company for improvement of Dahl Drive in Dahl Park subdivision.

Voiced objection to an application to fill lands where the proposed extension of Chase St. in West Palm Beach joins the lake-shore at Flagler Drive.

Noted to condemn remaining right of way needed for four-laning military Trail from Okeechobee Road north to the Beeline Highway.

Park Visitors On Increase In State

The number of visitors to national park and historic areas in Florida made an up-turn during the first seven months of this year over the same period in 1962, the Florida State Chamber of Commerce stated yesterday in its Weekly Business Review.

"A gain of 6 per cent was registered in the public use of these areas in the state, slightly above the comparable national increase. Since 1960, Florida's gain had been running less than half the national figure," the review pointed out.

"Favorable weather, recovery from storm damage, expanded facilities and a greater public awareness of the value of the areas have contributed to the increased public use of them in Florida.

"Castillo de San Marcos at St. Augustine had 289,600 visitors during the first seven months of this year, up 8 per cent, showing the effect of the new Sound and Light program inaugurated there. Nearby Fort Matanzas with 51,100 visitors was also up 8 per cent.

"Fort Caroline near Jacksonville had 31,200 visitors, up 7 per cent. DeSoto National Monument at Bradenton counted 53,000 visitors, up 4 per cent. Fort Jefferson off Key West was visited by 19,200, almost three times the previous period.

"Everglades National Park at Florida's subtropical tip counted 431,500 visitors, a gain of 2 per cent.

"These six areas are maintained in Florida by the federal government for recreational and preservation purposes. National forests and wild life areas which provide other types of recreational opportunities in the state are not included in these tabulations."

A resolution of sympathy in the death of Roma J. Sanders, veteran county employee, was adopted Monday by the County Commission.

Ybor City To Get Multi-Million Dollar Modern Hotel

TAMPA—A group of Tampa investors has disclosed plans for a $3 million tourist attraction and hotel in Ybor City which they expect to help revitalize Tampa's Latin Quarter.

Sponsoring group is Tampa Latin Quarter Inc., president of which is former Gov. Doyle E. Carlton. Others in the group are: Earl Mullen, executive vice president of Pan American Commission; Morton A. Tucker, realtor; Charles Graves, battery manufacturer; and real estate developer Frank Bartke.

Negotiations are now underway to arrange for the construction of the six-story Tampa Latin Quarter Hotel. The project will cover two city blocks with the hotel to be built around a central court in the traditional Latin manner.

The idea for the hotel and tourist attraction came from the Pan American Commission, of which Carlton is president and Mullen is executive vice president.

Mullen announced the hotel would be a link between Tampa's Busch Gardens and Winter Haven's Cypress Gardens, two of Florida's leading tourist attractions. Location in Ybor City will be just south of Interstate 4, providing easy access.

Mr. and Mrs. L. J. Fraser attended the homecoming at University of Florida in Gainesville during the past weekend.

A message from the Treasury of a free people

How to speak out for freedom today

Free men have never gone in much for silence. Even before the first thirteen States became United States, men were speaking for freedom loud and clear.

Today Americans speak out for freedom many ways—in Congress, in local government, in neighborhood activities. Some speak out for freedom in other languages, in other lands. And millions of Americans speak out for freedom every time they buy U.S. Savings Bonds.

Every Savings Bond you buy is an investment in freedom. While you're saving money for your own family's future, you're helping Uncle Sam tend to the business of keeping men free today.

Perhaps you don't speak out for freedom in the same tone of voice when you buy a Bond as Patrick Henry did in his famous speech. But you speak every bit as surely. And every bit as proudly.

Why not speak out for freedom now? Buy Bonds at the bank or on the Payroll Savings Plan where you work.

Keep freedom in your future with

Sen. John Mathews Runs For Governor

JACKSONVILLE — First man to officially announce as a candidate for governor for the 1964 campaign is State Sen. John E. Mathews, Jr. of Jacksonville.

Party primary nominations for governor will be made in May, 1964, with the general election scheduled for November. Mathews said his campaign would be "full-scale" from "right now."

Mathews announcement is expected to stir other potential candidates to throw their hats in the ring. State Sen. Scott Kelly of Lakeland already has said he plans to announce soon.

Other almost certain candidates for the post include Mayor Haydon Burns of Jacksonville, Fred O. (Bud) Dickinson of West Palm Beach and State Rep. Frederick Karl of Daytona Beach. Doyle E. Carlton, Jr. of Wauchula, who was defeated by Gov. Farris Bryant in the last campaign, presents a question mark as to his intention to run this time out.

Mathews is the son of the late John E. Mathews, Sr., a former senator and Florida Supreme Court Justice. The candidate served four sessions in the House of Representatives and one term as a state senator.

Low Bidder Gets Insurance Contract

Tranquility of County Commissioners was slightly ruffled this week in a small hassle which emanated from insurance bids.

The county had called for bids for liability insurance and three firms answered the call. A committee named to tabulate the bids, recommended that it go to John Turrentine, Inc., who was low by some $2,900 and who had offered a policy on a company rated "A" instead of the "A-plus" called for in bid specifications.

The "plus" was basis of the hassle, started by two insurance men—one a bidder the other an observer. They both maintained the bid should be based on specification and readily admitted the "plus" rating made very little difference in the type of coverage sought by the county.

Commissioner Lake Lytal summed up the situation, saying, "it seems we are always involved with insurance companies on our bids." He went on to explain other bids taken by the board seldom proved controversial—"somebody gets the bid and the others walk out."

The board, over objection of the two insurance men, voted to accept its committee recommendation and award the contract to Turrentine who had offered a proposal which the committee said "was in the best interest of the county."

What has happened to U. S. Savings Bonds?

They've been stolen and thrown into a river. Mistakenly left in an oven and baked at 400°. Hidden in a cookie jar and eaten full of holes by hungry beetles. Forgotten in a pair of work pants and washed, bleached and spin dried. Cut into tiny pieces by an irate wife. Gnawed by mice, and gobbled up by goats.

Yet, in spite of all these misfortunes, these Bonds weren't lost to their owners. They didn't even stop growing in value.

The Treasury Department keeps a record on microfilm of every Savings Bond sold. So every Bond that's lost, destroyed or stolen can be replaced. And the service is free.

The day may not be far off when we can battle the Mediterranean fruit fly without resorting to aerial spraying of an infested area.

Our Department of Agriculture and its Division of Plant Industry have been mighty unpopular on occasions when the medfly has been found on the lower East Coast the past couple of years.

Every time the pest has been discovered it has been necessary to spray a large area, sometimes fairly heavily populated. Residents have voiced objections and their protests have been more forceful with each succeeding operation.

The objections are understandable. No one is happy about having pesticide spray on his clothing, home, automobile or a nice, clean washing on the clothesline.

However, it's vitally important that we keep the medfly from preading and getting another foothold in our vast citrus groves. The last big Florida eradication program in 1956-57 cost about eleven million dollars. We can't afford to take a chance on repeating that experience.

The U. S. Department of Agriculture reported recently a powerful new attractant mixed with a chemical poison accomplished in less than 8 months complete eradication of the oriental fruit fly on an isolated island in the Pacific ocean near Guam.

The attractant—methyl eugenol—lured the male flies from great distances. They swarmed in, ate the poisonous mixture and died. As their numbers decreased rapidly, so did reproduction of the species. None have been found on the island in the past five months.

In the traps we maintain wherever it is likely a medfly may get loose from a ride it has hitched into Florida from another country, we use an attractant to lure any males that may be hanging around. An especially close watch is kept at ports of entry areas.

But our attractant—the best available at this time—hasn't got the phenomenal pulling power that methyl eugenol has for the oriental fruit fly.

If the research scientists can hit on an equally potent attractant for the medfly, we'll have it made. Instead of aerial spraying to contain the pest until it is wiped out, we can use the new technique—hanging poisoned bait material in traps in populated areas, or dropping them from planes in groves.

The new technique is known as "male annihilation." It is only one of many alternate methods researchers are investigating for ways to control or eradicate insect pests without broadcast spray application of poisonous chemicals.

From Haifa, Israel comes word of a new method for processing citrus juice concentrate which may merit investigation by our Florida processors. At present we have a monopoly on the frozen product, furnishing more than 90 per cent. of the world's supply.

Developed by Technion, Israel Institute of Technology, the new process utilizes ultrasonic waves to produce a commercially feasible juice concentration much higher than has hitherto been possible.

A recent dispatch to Supermarket News quotes Dr. Zeki Berk, acting head of Technion's food technology department, as reporting that the "new concentrate requires no pasteurization, freezing, hermetically sealed container or the addition of preservatives."

"It will keep even if shipped in barrels," he said. More tests of the product will be made, Technion reports, before any attempts are made at commercial exploitation. Nevertheless, it is preparing to handle patents and licensing arrangements.

Dr. Birk notes that ultrasonic waves enable achievement of a concentrate up to 82 per cent of solids. A 48 per cent frozen concentrate, he added, reconstitutes at a ratio of 3 of water to 1 of juice, while a 65 per cent concentrate reconstitutes at a 5 to 1 ratio.

According to the Technion report, the new concentrate retains a texture similar to that of honey. Remember the old Jello slogan—"Six delicious flavors?"

You may see cigars offered in equal variety.

Menthol, in the tobacco or in the filter, currently provides a different taste kick for the cigar smoker. Now comes "clove flavor" which one manufacturer has added to a light menthol blend.

Printing Buying In Tallahassee To Be Scrutinized

TALLAHASSEE — An investigation of state printing practices is about to get underway following a year's delay. Gov. Farris Bryant originally recommended the investigation, but recent legislative sessions on reapportionment sidetracked progress.

The investigation will be handled by the Interim Committee on Governmental Reorganization, headed by Rep. Welborn Daniel of Lake County. The committee is also made up of State Treasurer J. Edwin Larson, Auditor Ernest Ellison and State Comptroller Ray Green.

Other members of the committee include Chief Justice E. Harris Drew, Representatives Phil Ahlert, William O'Neill and H. E. Lancaster, and Senators George Hollahan, Verle Pope, G. T. Melton and John Spottswode.

Gov. Bryant says a study of printing practices could lead to reforms that would save the state a $1 million a year. This estimate is based on a special study made by Glenn Hobgood, accountant for the State Purchasing Commission.

College Building Amendment Gets All-Out Backing

FORT LAUDERDALE—Three to five technicians with post-high school training are needed for every scientist and engineer and business and the public junior colleges are going to have to provide them in Florida.

The figures were quoted from educational studies today by Thomas F. Fleming, Jr., in a final appeal for overwhelming passage of the College Building Amendment which will be Issue 2 on the top line of the ballot next Tuesday, Nov. 5.

"We can see the formula of the present and future right at Cape Canaveral," Fleming told a rally of workers for the Amendment at their state headquarters here.

"The scientist conceives a shot to the moon, the engineers work out problems of getting it up and thousands of technicians put it up," the Boca Raton civic leader said. "Scientists are developing more and more revolutionary products which engineers plan a factory to manufacture, while technicians build the site, study costs, prepare machinery and set up production."

The College Building Amendment authorizes $75 million in capital improvements to the state's system of public higher education of which, Fleming noted, 40 percent ($30,000,000) will go to junior colleges in 23 different counties.

Fleming said that in 1962, 83 percent of graduates from junior colleges were placed in jobs averaging over $5,000 yearly in fields ranging from automatic data processing to air-conditioning to power station operators and surgical technicians.

"Junior colleges in Florida, with their extensive vocational-technical programs, serve two distinct groups of our youth," Fleming emphasized, "those who would be more practical and happier in a two-year technical program than a four-year academic program, and those who would not be able to consider college at all if the schools were not available near their homes."

Fleming termed the College Building Amendment an "emergency measure" because half of the present junior college enrollment is attending classes in temporary structures while the number of high school graduates is expected to increase from 44,000 this year to 60,500 in 1965.

The bond issue authorized by the Amendment will be financed from the present gross receipts tax on Florida utility companies with no increase in taxes against the public.

Fleming estimated that as many as 8,000 people will be working through his voluntary group, Citizens for Florida's Future, in the final week of the campaign and at the polls on election day. Fleming, chairman of the education committee of the Florida State Chamber of Commerce and member of

Burns Doesn't Think Democrats Will Carry Florida In 1964

JACKSONVILLE—Mayor Haydon Burns, who is expected to be a candidate for governor next year, says the Democratic party will not carry Florida in the next presidential election.

Burns, speaking at the State Veterinarians convention recently, said he is a loyal Democrat and supports the party, but he added that a potential candidate for governor, he does not believe he should support any individual for nomination from constable to president.

Burns added that if nominated for governor, he would give leadership to the Florida delegation to the National Democratic Convention in selection of a candidate and planks in the party platform.

Tourist Increase Told By Governor

TALLAHASSEE — Gov. Farris Bryant has announced that during the first six months of this year, 6,975,643 tourists came to Florida. This is an increase of 6.78 per cent over the same period a year ago. Bryant, at the same time, predicted 13.5 million tourists will travel to the Sunshine State this year. This figure is the highest ever reached and compares with the 13,010,389 tourists that visited Florida last year.

"It's a remarkable tribute to the close cooperation in promotional programs between our tourist industry and the Development Commission that we have been able to show an increase in tourist volume with each passing year," the governor said.

He noted indications where the state was getting more families and more middle income groups, while "still holding our own with the high income visitors."

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Weeks and daughters of Miami spent the weekend with his father, J. G. Weeks in Canal Point.

The executive committee of the Florida Council of 100, formed the group in Tampa in September. He has campaigned around the state for the Amendment since that time.

Important Is Way College Building Being Discussed

One of the most important issues ever to face the voters of Florida is on the ballot this Tuesday, November 5th. It is State Amendment No. 2, better known as the College Building Amendment.

We urge you to vote for this Amendment. Its passage is vital to the future of Florida and to the welfare of our children.

It will provide for a $75 million bond issue, without increasing taxes one cent, and will make possible a desperately needed building program for the public junior colleges and universities.

There is a population explosion now among students trying to get into college. We can either pass this Amendment and, thus, help them get in, or we can reject it and deny them the education they seek.

We must not deny them this right, Florida needs highly trained minds for their own sake for better leadership, for creativeness. It needs these schools, too, for attracting new industry. New industry means more jobs, higher wages, more opportunity.

As Thomas F. Fleming, Jr., the Chairman of the Citizens for Florida's Future, said, "If we want to give our children a solid chance to succeed in life, then we must provide them with educational opportunities. In this Space Age, we must build modern schools to train today's children how to cope with and solve modern problems."

The fastest way to accomplish this is to vote in favor of Amendment No. 2 on Tuesday.

Collier Chairman Asks AAA Explain Toll Road Stand

The Florida Council of the American Automobiles Association, a committee of the Tampa Bay AAA Clubs, which has been attacking the new toll road between Naples and Ft. Lauderdale proposed and financed by Broward and Collier Counties, was today asked to "honestly explain its motivation and reasons" by the chairman of the Board of Commissioners of Collier County, A. C. Hancock.

Mr. Hancock noted that the AAA's high-powered campaign was kicked off just weeks before final approval of the two-year old project and has now been culminated by an edition of the club's newspaper "which carefully avoided the objective reporting of such publications as the Tampa Tribune of October 6th in presenting newspaper, radio and TV comment on the project. The chairman explained, "we have withheld commenting on the AAA campaign to make a statewide issue of this local matter because we expected the news media would investigate and truthfully present the facts of the matter. But the distortions of the October-November AAA paper cannot be ignored," he commented.

Hancock asked the Tampa AAA's to publicly explain why they held their fire on the project which began in 1961 at a two-county meeting in Naples until the very last minute "if they were sincere." He added, "the matter has been an item of common knowledge and conversation in Broward and Collier since that meeting and was reported time after time in such papers as the Miami Herald, the Tampa Tribune and the St. Petersburg Times. AAA representatives last winter announced their opposition to the road in a local radio interview in Naples. But they apparently chose to delay their statewide publicity drive until the very last minute so that they could allege the road was being rushed through."

Mrs. Danny Mullis and children of Orlando are visiting this week end with her father, Roscoe Stokes.

 The Bible Lesson is entitled "Everlasting Punishment," and includes also these lines from the Christian Science textbook: "We acknowledge God's forgiveness of sin in the destruction of sin and the spiritual understanding that casts out evil as unreal" (Science and Health with key to the Scriptures by Mary Baker Eddy, p. 497).

Assistant Public Defender Is Named

The Palm Beach County Commission this week authorized the appointment of a second public defender for the county.
 The request was made by Clayton Nance, public defender for the 15th Judicial Circuit, who said John Evans, his present assistant, needs help.
 The board authorized a second defender if the appointment could be made within the present budget.

Hookers Celebrate 50th Anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. Hooker

The sons and daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Ross Hooker had the rare privilege of entertaining their parents on the occasion of their Fiftieth wedding anniversary, Oct. 20, 1963. They held open house from three to six at the Hooker home on West Lake Road in Chosen and entertained many friends and relatives who called during the afternoon. All of the eight Hooker children and most of the husbands, wives and grandchildren and two great-grandchildren were present for the happy occasion.

More than 200 guests were greeted by Mr. and Mrs. Hooker and asked to sign a guest book by Miss Margaret West, a distant relative of the family.

Lovely floral arrangements of yellow roses and giant Fuji mums enhanced the living room. The anniversary table was covered with a white lace cloth underlaid with a gold satin cloth. A four tiered gold pedestal cake centered the table; with low arrangements of yellow sweetheart roses, and silver coffee service completing the beautiful setting.

Walter and Gladys Hooker came to the Belle Glade area in December of 1920 and literally landed on the north bank of the Hillsboro Canal at what was then the little town of Chosen.

Those who are familiar with early Glades history will know the canal afforded the only approach to this area at this time. The Hookers arrived almost at the spot where they now reside. — From Belle Glade Herald.

ABOUT PEOPLE AND THINGS

Mr. and Mrs. G. B. McClure have returned to their home in Pahokee after a sojourn in Colorado Springs, Colo. The McClures arrived in Pahokee to make their home in 1917. Many times they have wandered far from home since O. B. retired but they always return when cool weather strikes in other sections of the country. In conversation about their most recent trip O. B. waved his hand—taking in the entire Glades area in its scope—and said "this is still the greatest country I've ever seen."

Sunday afternoon was a red letter day for officials and directors of Everglades Federal Savings and Loan Association as they opened their Pahokee Branch in a handsome new building on Bacon Point Road. From a meager beginning in 1934 the institution has grown to be a power among savings and loan associations in Florida. The original amount of money with which the Federal started would just about pay for the handsome signs on the new branch office.

Elsewhere in this issue is a story about a consolidation of two very important brokerage concerns at the State Market in Pahokee. Hugh H. Branch of Hugh H. Branch, Inc., has become president of Joe Hatton, Inc., and Joe Hatton has become vice president. The deal gives Mr. Hatton time to get away from it all once in awhile and that is just what he's been looking for since he talked to his physician recently. Describing the new set-up Joe Hatton said: "Hugh will be the chief cook and bottle washer in this outfit from now on." Of course, the "Hatton Boys" are just about out of the vegetable business and are spending full time growing sugar cane.

Local PTA Will Hear Bill Howard

The Canal Point PTA will meet Monday, November 4 at 8 p. m. in the school cafeteria with W. E. Blackwell, president, presiding. The guest speaker of the evening will be Bill Howard, principal of the Pahokee Elementary School.

Highway Crashes Will Be Studied

The county commission this week made plans to take a close look at every highway accident in the county involving personal injury and $500 property damage in an effort to see if new safety measures would help cut an increasing number of mishaps.

Lending impetus to the commission action were a pair of accidents—one a fatality—which occurred within minutes of each other at Forest Hill Blvd. and Kirk Road.

Commissioner Edward Bandlow won board support for his plan to have the commission give close study to accident reports and then try to come up with measures to eliminate cause of the accidents.

The board voted to ask the sheriff's department for accident reports from county road crashes and the state department of Public Safety for reports of accidents on state roads.

As an immediate step to cut down the accident toll, the board authorized a traffic study of the Kirk Road intersection to determine what steps should be taken as safety measures to eliminate traffic hazards at that point.

Garden Club Has Mrs. Kirk Speaker

The Community Building in Canal Point was the scene of the meeting of the Canal Point Garden Club as Mrs. W. R. Kirk of Belle Glade told how to make attractive flower arrangements.

Decorative arrangements brought to the meeting by club members were judged individually, as to color, harmony, and design by the speaker who gave suggestions on how they might have been improved.

The club accepted the resignation of Mrs. C. B. Stringari, secretary, who has joined her husband in Detroit, Mich.

The Canal Point Club was represented at the District 10 Federation meeting at Port St. Lucie Country Club recently by Mrs. Arnold Scruggs, Mrs. M. C. Carter, Mrs. Ralph Duran, Mrs. G. H. Tucker Sr. and Mrs. J. E. Williams.

G. T. Echols and Melvin Spooner attended a meeting of Associated Grocers held in Miami Monday night.

We Are Grateful

Officers and Directors of Everglades Federal are deeply grateful to the hundreds of fine folks in the Glades who came by our new Pahokee Branch last Sunday afternoon during Open House.

The manner in which you people of the area received and commented upon the new structure which houses the Pahokee Branch made all of us very happy.

May we serve you from the Pahokee Branch or from the Home Office in Belle Glade. At either place you'll always be welcome.

Holland & Smathers Back College Building Amendment

Florida's two U. S. senators gave a strong endorsement of the College Building Amendment tonight in a filmed television appearance distributed throughout the state in which they urged the voters to give it "overwhelming adoption" at the polls on November 5.

Senators Spessard L. Holland and George A. Smathers expressed their views together in a discussion with Thomas E. Fleming, Jr., Boca Raton civic leader who has spearheaded a citizens group advocating passage of the state amendment.

"Education is the greatest thing we can do for our children," Sen. Smathers said. "Florida will not realize its full potential as a space-age state until we have a better system of colleges and, particularly, technical colleges."

Senator Holland plugged the amendment strongly as fulfillment of the state's obligation to "give to its colleges and universities and junior colleges the buildings and facilities which they so badly need" as opposed to federal aid and intervention.

The College Building Amendment, No. 2 on the top line of the ballot, will authorize a $75,000,000 bond issue for expansion and improvements at Florida's five public universities and at junior colleges in 23 counties. It also will provide a start for a new university in the East Central Florida area and a senior college in the Pensacola area.

Senator Smathers termed the cost of the entire program as "one dollar per person and that's cheap for a high-class education." He was referring to the estimated $5,000,000 annually it will cost to pay off the bonds compared to Florida's 5,000,000 population.

This money will come from the present receipts tax paid by utility companies, however, and will not result in any direct assessment against the public.

"We've been losing important space and design contracts because we haven't had available to the thousands of people who are employed by the contractors in the space game in Florida, the chance to increase their education," Senator Holland said. "I think that one of the most important things in this whole program is the proposed new university to be located somewhere in the canaveral area."

Both the Florida's U. S. senators have long been strong supporters of improving the state's public higher education system which is expected to have doubled enrollment demands by 1970. Sen. Holland appeared before a joint session of the legislature last spring to urge action which resulted in the College Building Amendment being placed on the ballot.

Fleming, chairman of the voluntary Citizens for Florida's Future with headquarters here, went to Washington, D. C., to film the interview with Holland and Smathers. He is stumping the state this week speaking in behalf of the Amendment.

KNOW THE TRUTH

THE LAW: Florida State law says local school money must come only from property taxes.

- 1. The Issue: Good Schools or Bad.
- 2. Bonds vs. Millage: There is no time for a bond issue. A $25 million bond issue would cost $10 million in interest, $10 million lost to the people.
- 3. The ballot: The form of the ballot is set by state law, not by the school board.
- 4. The Growth: Palm Beach County receives 4,000 new pupils each year.
- 5. The Urgency: There are 8,000 pupils already in substandard facilities and 1,000 in double sessions.
- 6. The Cost: Property cash value $10,000
60 % assessed value 6,000
Homestead Exemp. 5,000
Actual Taxed Value 1,000
Increase in Taxes, $5.
- 7. The Increase: Five mills, not 15, not 20.
